

DALE CARNEGIE'S BIOGRAPHICAL ROUND-UP

The inimitable Dale Carnegie has, with deft skill, 'rounded-up' into one convenient volume the colourful biographies of outstanding men and women of our time. From his extensive and intimate acquaintance with many well-known people, he reveals them as many other biographers could not. His real feeling for his subjects (as would be expected of a man who knows how to win friends) makes his portrayals human and appealing.

There are little known episodes in the lives of Mussolini and Bing Crosby, Admiral Nimitz and Dorothy Dix, Henry Kaiser and General de Gaulle. Nearly forty famous people are made better-known to the world in these fascinating life stories and some astonishing inconsistencies are brought to light.

Dale Carnegie, the author of the record-breaking How To Win Friends and Influence People and How to Stop Worrying and Start Living, is a man of many and varied accomplishments—lecturer, featured broadcaster, and writer of a syndicated column in more than seventy newspapers in America.
