PREFACE

Some popular notions like 'All religions lead to the same goal,' 'Truth of the Self is to be experienced' and so on, require to be examined before they receive our subscription. If they are found wrong, then entertaining those notions would mean costly consequences.

I had looked into these concepts objectively in my talks and writings on different occasions. I am happy some of them are presented in this book under the title 'Insights'.

"There is no failure in life.
There are only varieties of experiences. We learn from experiences, and not from failure which does not exist."
