R.S.M. Lauderdale, veteran of thirty years' service in the British Army, presides over the European Sergeants' Mess of the 2nd Battalion West African Rifles, stationed near the town of Batasi.

When a revolt breaks out, the British C.O. is told to withdraw, and the battalion is handed over to African command. Then mutiny is threatened and Lauderdale is drawn—not altogether reluctantly—into the conflict.

"Guns at Batasi" is a piercing and compassionate story of the destruction of a professional soldier, told with an edge of satire, yet by no means lacking in sympathy.
