

NEW World Writing

An Important Cross Section of Current Literature and Criticism

- Christopher Isherwood The World in the Evening
 Alain Locke The Negro in American Literature
 Louis Auchincloss Billy and the Gargoyles
 Tennessee Williams I Rise in Flame, Cried the Phoenix
 Flannery O'Connor Enoch and the Gorilla
 Thomas Merton Sports Without Blood
 Rolfe Humphries Translation in Revival
 Shelby Foote Day of Battle
 Themistocles Hoelis Akin and the Small Boy
 Alice Dennis The Death of Miss Emma K. Wood
 Henry-Russell Hitchcock & Philip C. Johnson The Buildings We See
 Gore Vidal Erlinda and Mr. Coffin
 Wright Morris The Rites of Spring
 James Turner Jackson The Visit
 Giuseppe Bertol The Seed Among Thorns
 P. M. Pasinetti The Incredible Italians
 Michael Seide The Figure of a Man Falling
 William Gaddis Le Chemin des Anes
 Robie Macaulay The End of Pity
 Charles J. Rolo Simenon and Spillane: Murder for the Millions
 Jean-Baptiste Rossi Faces of Hatred and of Love
 Oliver Evans The Theme of Spiritual Isolation in Carson McCullers
 Arabel J. Porter Literary Hospitality
 Poems by: Howard Nemerov
 Gray Barr, J. C. Hall
 James Laughlin, Howard Moss
 Lloyd Frankenberg, Frank O'Hara
 Charles G. Bell, John Malcolm Brinnin
 Marvin Solomon, James Schuyler

First Mentor Selection
A New American Library Publication

New
WORLD
WRITING

FIRST MENTOR SELECTION

Published by THE NEW AMERICAN
LIBRARY

... Today's New World Writing
Is Tomorrow's
... Good Reading for the Millions

This first Mentor selection of New World Writing is the exciting and logical outgrowth of The New American Library's credo—Good Reading for the Millions.

It is this publishing philosophy that has inspired The New American Library, under the imprint of Signet books, to pioneer in publishing serious fiction for the mass market, to introduce new American writers to millions here and abroad, and to popularize the work of many little-known foreign writers in this country. The same publishing judgment is responsible for the fabulous success of Mentor Books in making available outstanding works of scholarship in every field... science, philosophy, literature, history, the social sciences and the arts.

Now, at last, The New American Library realizes another long-felt ambition: to bring to readers of Signet and Mentor Books an important and representative cross section of current literature and criticism. The sort of material included in this First Mentor Selection has formerly been found only in a few literary magazines of comparatively limited readership. Through the cooperation of American book publishers and of members of the literary profession, The New American Library now makes available throughout the world selections of important contemporary writing at a modest price. To the new—and particularly to the hitherto unpublished—writer of genuine talent, New World Writing offers an immediate, appreciative and influential audience.

New World Writing
A New American Library Publication