

20th
Century
English
Literature:
A Soviet
View

PROGRESS PUBLISHERS

20th
Century
English
Literature:
A Soviet
View

Progress Publishers
Moscow

CONTENTS

Foreword. Translated by C. English . . . . .	Page 5
---	-----------

PART ONE

THE STRUGGLE OF IDEAS IN LITERATURE (REALISM AND MODERNISM)

A. Anikst. George Bernard Shaw. Translated by C. English . . . . .	11
P. Balashov. George Bernard Shaw - Champion of the Truth. Translated by C. English . . . . .	26
Yu. Kagarlitsky. The Summing-Up (H. G. Wells). Translated by C. English . . . . .	41
M. Tugusheva. How Modern Is Galsworthy? Translated by C. English . . . . .	58
M. Urnov. Hostility Towards and Kinship with the Passing Age (Richard Aldington). Translated by C. English . . . . .	82
Ye. Genieva. James Joyce. Translated by D. Hagen . . . . .	95
N. Solovyova. Virginia Woolf: A World in Fading Colours. Translated by D. Bradbury . . . . .	129
N. Paltsev. The One Bright Book of Life: The Novel as Seen by D.H. Lawrence. Translated by L. Beraha . . . . .	142
G. Andjaparidze. Aldous Huxley. Translated by L. Beraha . . . . .	158
A. Zverev. T.S. Eliot: Poet of the Waste Land. Translated by L. Beraha . . . . .	169
N. Mikhalskaya. The Social Novel of the 1930s. Translated by L. Beraha . . . . .	179
I. Kochetkova. The Voice of J.B. Priestley. Translated by C. English . . . . .	197

PART TWO

ENGLISH LITERATURE AFTER WORLD WAR TWO

E. Pereslegina. Charles Percy Snow. Translated by K. Hammond . . . . .	215
V. Ivashova. Graham Greene: In the Grip of Paradox. Translated by E. Turner . . . . .	226
V. Ivashova. Carrying On the Tradition (The Novels of J. Aldridge, N. Lewis, B. Davidson and D. Stewart). Translated by K. Hammond . . . . .	240

THE PHILOSOPHICAL NOVEL

Ye. Genieva. The Recent Work of Iris Murdoch. Translated by D. Hagen	253
M. Zinde. The Philosophical Parables of William Golding. Translated by D. Bradbury	272
V. Ivashova. Colin Wilson. Translated by D. Bradbury	288
N. Paltsev. The Artist in Search of Truth: John Fowles' Parables. Translated by D. Bradbury	299
V. Ivashova. Pierce Paul Read: A Writer's Progress. Translated by E. Turner	308
I. Vassilievna. "Liberated Women" in Fiction and in Life: Tradition and Reality Today. Translated by D. Bradbury	319
G. Anzaparidze. Evelyn Waugh and the Modern Satirical Novel. Translated by J. Butler	336

ENGLISH SCIENCE FICTION TODAY

A. Kubatiev. A Landscape of Destruction, Deeds of Bravery... (English Science Fiction of the 60s-70s.) Translated by O. Shartse	373
L. Mikhailova. English Science Fiction of the Last Ten Years. Translated by O. Shartse	382
Y. Gopman. J.G. Ballard's Shattered Worlds (Philosophical and Aesthetical Problems). Translated by O. Shartse	382

SHORT STORIES, POETRY, DRAMA

I. Sofinskaya. The English Short Story in the 1960s-1970s. Translated by O. Shartse	392
V. Skorodenko. Some Developments in Post-War English Poetry. Translated by O. Shartse	407
Y. Friedstein. Aspects of the Development of Contemporary British Drama. Translated by K. Hammond	435
Conclusion	471
Biographical Notes	475

20th Century English Literature: A Soviet View

This book presents the work of Moscow critics who specialise in English literature. The articles deal with various authors and phenomena in English literature (prose, the drama, and poetry) between 1900 and 1975. Both the older and younger generations of literary historians are represented. The editors have not attempted to put forth any unified view of English authors; on the contrary an effort was made to show the variety of creative approaches taken to the study of the twentieth-century English literature in the Soviet Union.

PROGRESS PUBLISHERS