'Fine novel written in English by an Indian. Powerful character drawing. Action that ranges from domestic to national bloodshed.'

E. W. ROBERTS, Personal Choice in Books of the Year, OBSERVER

When freedom came to India... so did violence. Three hundred thousand were slaughtered... a hundred thousand women were raped, abducted, mutilated... twelve million people were rendered homeless.

The theme of this powerful novel is how that violence erupted in the lives of ordinary men and women and in the lives of three brilliantly depicted central characters - Gyan, a follower of Gandhi, Debi-doyal, an ardent terrorist, and Debi-doyal's sister Sundari, a ruthless woman who holds nothing sacred and is half in love with her own brother...

'A quite outstanding novel... The author is one of those born writers who just cannot go wrong'

GLASGOW HERALD

'A very exciting story told with great skill'

BBC

'A work of art'
