"AN ANALYSIS OF AN IMPASSIONED ARCHANGEL OF VICE...NOTHING LESS THAN MASTERLY"

—Boston Globe

JEAN GENET, creator of a literature of damnation, author of The Balcony, The Blacks, and Our Lady of the Flowers — his life and art examined by France's great philosopher and novelist Jean-Paul Sartre.

"Grandly conceived and passionately executed... Sartre illuminates an extraordinary range of subjects — homosexualism, criminal society, luxury, the nature of genius."

—Harper's

"A brilliant and unorthodox book, crowned with insights that will disturb and illuminate."

—Atlantic

"Magnificent... Sartre's books must unquestionably be the most thorough literary, sociological, psychological, philosophical, and theological examination of a living author ever attempted."

—Chicago News

"The brilliance and humanity and erudition and unsentimental compassion that have gone into this work are literally unbelievable...Saint Genet is biographical exegesis carried to the point of high art."

—Newsweek
