

NOW PUBLISHED FOR THE FIRST TIME

Men

The first truly candid erotic autobiography written by an American woman.

Gloria Barrett

164.50

Men

Gloria Barrett

LANCER BOOKS • NEW YORK

Contents

	Introduction	7
	Preface	13
I	The End of Innocence—Francois	21
II	Be Kind to Me—Yvonne	33
III	First Love—Farewell	41
IV	Thanks for the Memory—Scott	49
V	The Riding Master and the Lady—Guy	65
VI	Home on the Range—Jim	79
VII	Movie Stars Are for Leaving—Bob	94
VIII	Hollywood Party Line—Nick	107
IX	Folly and Farewell	114
X	April in Paris—Yvonne	126
XI	Goodbye Again—Francois	139
XII	Sex International	155
XIII	The Children's Hour—Oliver	163
XIV	To Each His Own—Dmitri	171
XV	Home Is the Hunter	181
XVI	All About Men	189

Men is the unashamed memoir of a woman free in her way of life and as frank about it as a man. There is a great tradition of candid confessions: St. Augustine, the immortal Casanova, Frank Harris, the anonymous author of "My Secret Life." This book matches any of them in its probing for the ultimate revelation of sensuality. But the difference between earlier erotic autobiographies and Gloria Barrett's revealing book is significant. Here, for the first time, a woman of our own age—attractive, intelligent, and thoroughly modern—probes the meaning of her adventures with men as well as the encounters themselves. Not only what she did, but the all-important WHY of it is set down in living colors. No mere case history, this is the questing, breathing woman herself, bringing new light to the oldest enigma: the way of a man with a maid and of a woman with many men.

A LANCER BOOK • NEVER PUBLISHED UNTIL NOW

Cover photo was lit by professional model. Cover printed in the U.S.A.