"May 27 to May 27" - what a strange title for a book! (1)

How strange are the forms and forms in the spiritual domain that Vasantha Sai exhibits here, a rare glimpse into his one year of being invisible, a saga of joy, pain and tears. The Lord incarnates in every age to illumine the path of dharma. Many great souls help in this task; the life of Christ is an irrefutable example that their self sacrifice and suffering can change the world. How does this transformation take place? Sri Vasantha Sai reveals the secret.

"Sometimes during my life but one should live for God, but one should yearn for God from both. Feeling separated from my Lord, I crave every moment to unite with Him. I am suffering like a fish out of water for sixty-five years. The water has come in human form but I have not had any physical experience for my salvation. It is from feelings alone that I have had extraordinary divine experiences. I married Sri. Krishna with my feelings; I merged with Suresh in Vaidhika Cave with my feelings. It is a divine marriage, which happens without seeing, speaking or touching the Lord. It was not for the birth of ordinary children but for the birth of a sage, for the birth of Sakina Yogi. Deepenated Prema for Suresh has expanded as modern compassion for the world. The marriage between Suresh's Sahaja and my Prema is the reason for the modern feelings that will bring us toward liberation."

"I am writing the feelings that are aroused by the pains of separation in all my books. These pain feelings of Prema for the Lord are strongly expressed in the words of the verses. Truth makes form and transformation occurs. The spirit of Prema and the milk my heart creates a Prema world in every heart. All will become Vasana for crying and weeping for Suresh. All will realize in a Suresh in Truth everything else is empty. The day of his evolution will be the day of birth of the Sahaja Yogi."
