

He walked among the cedars of Lebanon, among the towers of Manhattan, and found in everything he saw

Mirrors of the Soul

Timeless wisdom by

Kahlil Gibran

Author of

The Prophet

With a biographical study by Joseph Sheban

Mirrors of The Soul

Kahlil Gibran

*Translated and with biographical notes
by Joseph Sheban*

Contents

1. Is It All Possible?	1
2. The Environment That Created Gibran	4
3. The Birthplace of Gibran	11
4. Words of Caution	19
5. Gibran's Dual Personality	26
6. Gibran's Painting and Poetry	41
7. The Philosophy of Gibran	46
8. "Ask Not What Your Country Can Do for You"	66
9. Solitude and Seclusion by Gibran	74
10. The Sea by Gibran	77
11. Handful of Beach Sand by Gibran	79
12. The Sayings of the Brook by Gibran	82
13. For Heaven's Sake, My Heart! by Gibran	84
14. The Robin by Gibran	86
15. The Great Sea by Gibran	88
16. Seven Reprimands by Gibran	91
17. During a Year Not Registered in History by Gibran	93
18. The Women in the Life of Gibran	95

Reflections from a beloved visionary

They tell me:
if you see a slave
sleeping, do not wake him lest he be dreaming of freedom.

I tell them:
if you see a slave
sleeping, wake him and explain to him freedom.

"Gibran could write timeless truths in a way that makes the reader feel he is taking a walk in a quiet wood or bathing in a cool stream; it soothes the spirit. But he could also write with a scorch-like fire."
—University of Oklahoma Press

"Gibran's exquisite poetry and incisive commentaries are ... artful ponderings on the meaning of life and exploration of delicate personal situations. Master of mood and situation Gibran plumbs the depths of both."
—Dallas Times Herald