

Foalishly Yours

WISTFUL LIKE

Like men and women, an airline also dreams. And so we know the restlessness of man that takes him to the ends of the earth in search of what he knows not. We are your link with tomorrow—the unknown—with new countries and peoples that were born with the caravan, that for you are strange and exciting...like a jungle moon and the sounds of the forest, as day, yawning sleepily, softly turns to night.

Whilst welcoming you on board, dear passenger, we wish you more than a pleasant flight...we wish you your dreams.
