

A large, stylized orange graphic of a human eye is the central focus. The eye is looking slightly to the right. A single tear is falling from the lower right corner of the eye. The graphic is composed of thick, flowing lines, giving it a sense of movement and emotion. It is positioned behind the author's name and the title.

JAYAKANTHAN

JOSEPH WEPT

JOSEPH WEPT

A Novelette

JAYAKANTHAN

Translated by

A. A. HAKIM

THE CHRISTIAN LITERATURE SOCIETY

Jayakanthan is one of the most outstanding Tamil novelists of our day. He is a self-made writer who commands respect in the world of letters by the sheer originality of his writings.

A. A. Hakim who has translated this novelette into English is at present Assistant Station Director, All India Radio, Madras.

Joseph Wept is the story of a man who suffers in silence and forgives without stinting. He is either a saint or a fool, and it is disconcerting to be either in our grey world of moral ambiguities.

An unusual tale, told with sensitivity and courage.

Price : Rs. 4.50

This price applies to India only